Railroads Threatened With Nationalization—Blow to Taxpayers

When your editor hinted a week ago that the Amtrak experiment plus the growing crisis in most of the big carriers made it likely the American taxpayer was about to be saddled with the whole railroad business he didn't realize how shrewd a guess he was making.

The authoritative Wall Street Journal on Jan. 6 published a detailed forecast under the heading: "Government Chugging Toward Nationalization of American Railroads."

The WSJ says everyone in Washington denounces nationalization but in the same breath concedes the possibility. While the big story is the collapse of the giant Penn Central system there are many big carriers almost equally hard up for cash.

And the National Railroad Passenger Corporation—known as Amtrak—set up with federal funds with the understanding that the states it served would cover part of the operating losses, is in trouble in its first operating year.

Amtrak has canceled trains between Buffalo, Cleveland, and Chicago because the state governments, specifically New York, Pennsylvania, and Illinois won't pay. Alone among them Ohio put up some money, but in view of the default by the other three Amtrak stopped its passenger service in the area.

The railroad problem is typical of all problems in which government is permitted to have the final word. Government increases the minimum wage, therefore skilled railroaders demand increases of their own—and with justice.

This alone wouldn't account for the railroad companies' shortage of cash. The latter came about when the roads asked rate increases to cover added costs. Costs were up instantly, but decisions on rate increases dragged on for years. No business on earth could escape disaster under such circumstances.

But nationalization is not the solution. We tried nationalization in World War I and it was the worst financial disaster our government ever got into.

This should be the primary concern of every American—for we are the ones who will foot the bill under nationalization. The alternative? Well, just for once why don't we try to lift government's heel off the sore neck of the privately-owned carriers?

It's an alternative that will come about only when the citizens tell their men in Washington loudly and firmly, "Nationalization—No!"

Five Killed on Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Five persons lost their lives on Arkansas' highways this past weekend. Two of those victims were killed Sunday.

The Associated Press weekend highway fatality count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Killed were:
—Roy Niles, 31, of near Mabelvale when his car overturned on a curve on U.S. 70 near Hot Springs shortly after midnight Saturday.

—Paul Davis, 16, of Alexander in a one-car crash on a Saline County Road near Bryant when he lost control of his car late Saturday night.

—Jerrald Spurling, 25, of Dumas, who died Sunday in a Dumas hospital after losing control of his car earlier Sunday at the intersection of Arkansas 114 and 83.

—Otis Griffin, 56, of DeQueen, who was killed Saturday when the dump truck he was driving collided with another dump truck on a county road near DeQueen Saturday.

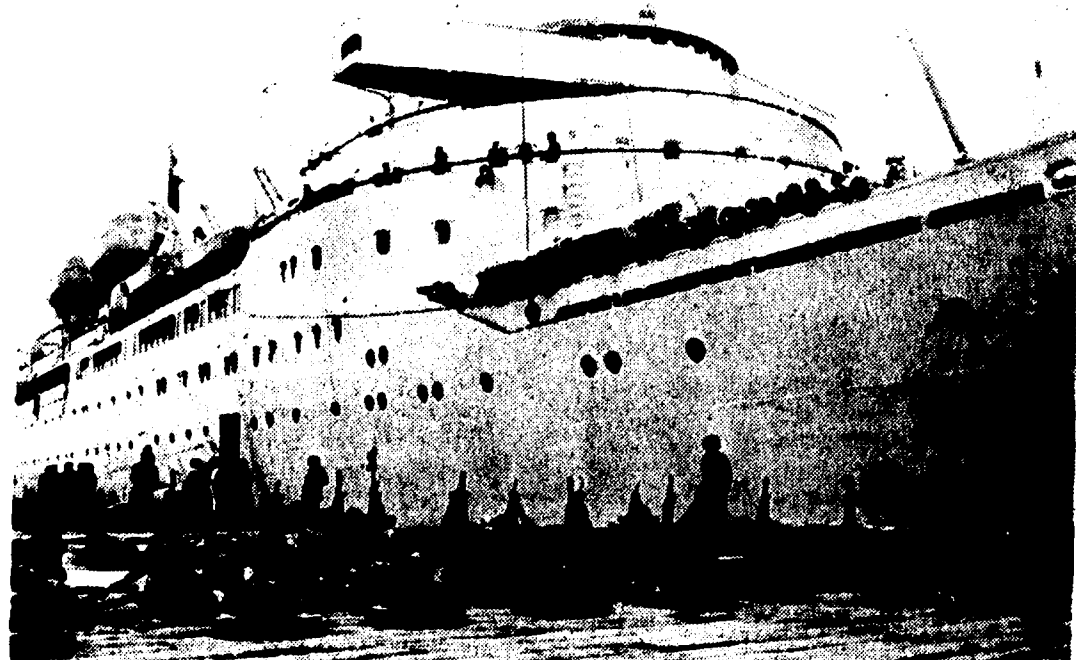

—Ronald J. M. Crain, 18, of Perry (Perry County) died Saturday in a Little Rock hospital of injuries he had received in a one-car accident on Arkansas 9 near Morrilton Friday night.

AT EASE FOR THE LAST TIME, at least in Vietnam, South Korean marines stack arms beside the troopship carrying them home. Some 1,200 men, the first element to leave in the pullout of South Korea's 50,000-man force, embarked at Da Nang.

Pay Board Won't Find Longshoremen Easy

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pay Board may not find it as easy to reject a 15-per-cent guideline-shattering pay raise for strike-prone longshoremen as it did to veto a 12-per-cent raise for recession-plagued aerospace workers, board sources say.

"The longshoremen will shut down again, that's all," one informant said. "The board is playing these games with the weak and the small."

Last week United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock complained that the public and business members of the board were picking on aerospace workers because their industry is depressed, and they are unlikely to strike.

The board took what at first appeared to be a tough stand, rejecting a 12-per-cent first-year raise for 100,000 workers at five aerospace firms. But it then indicated it is ready to approve the full raise if part of it is deferred until the second year of the agreement. Both years would exceed the board's 5.5-per-cent guideline.

Nevertheless, it was the first contract the board had refused to accept. It previously had approved a 15-per-cent raise for coal miners, who had struck to get it, and the start of a 47-per-cent raise for rail signalmen, who had struck twice.

No sooner had the board disposed of the aerospace matter, which took three days of debate and kept the board from deciding any other matters, than the dock settlement popped up.

The AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association tentatively agreed to a three-year pact calling for a 32.4-per-cent raise for 45,000 dock workers from Maine to Virginia. It presumably would serve as a pattern for ILA men in all East and Gulf Coast ports. West Coast dock workers, represented by another union, already have rejected a settlement containing an even bigger first-year raise.

The ILA settlement calls for a 15.3-per-cent increase in the first year, which is all the Pay Board is likely to consider if it follows its habit of clearing contracts year by year. The first year raise amounts to 70 cents in the present hourly wage of $4.60.

In developments over the weekend:

—The Cost of Living Council announced it had exempted the U.S. Postal Service from price controls, clearing the way for a 2.9-per-cent increase in third-class mail rates Jan. 24.

—Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, returning to Washington with Nixon Saturday night from California, predicted the Dow-Jones index of industrial stock prices will break 1,000 this year. It closed Friday at 908.

Some Jewelry Recovered

DETROIT (AP) — An estimated $750,000 worth of jewelry stolen from the Hotel Pierre in New York on Jan. 2 has been recovered here.

FBI officials said the 17 pieces of jewelry, apparently broken down from 12 originals, consisted of large diamonds, emeralds and rubies.

Authorities said the precious stones were picked up "down town" on a tip, but they refused to be specific.

No arrests were made in connection with the recovery, they said, but five persons already arrested in New York will be charged with interstate transportation of stolen merchandise, a federal offense.

Journalists to Fight Proposal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The board of directors of an organization of journalists will hire an attorney and fight proposed changes in rules of criminal procedure.

The board of the Little Rock Profession Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the society of journalists, agreed Sunday to take the action. The proposed changes are being considered by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

John Reeder, news director of KARK-TV and president of the SDX, said his organization was the proper one to carry journalism's fight against the proposed changes.

"This is the only organization which represents a cross-section of all media," Reeder said. "It's the proper one to go to the court with our objections."

The Arkansas Bar Association proposed the rules to the court in a petition. The rules would restrict pre-trial publicity in criminal cases and would prohibit court officials from discussing pending cases.

Reeder said it was important for the court to know that the news media do not agree on these rules as the bar association's petition indicates.

Sigma Delta Chi is the first organization to act against the proposed rule changes although the court has been besieged in the last two weeks by communications from individual journalists.

No news media organization ever approved the proposed rules which were drawn up by a committee of lawyers and newsmen and subsequently approved by the bar association.

Jaycees Pick Outstanding

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The U.S. Jaycees have selected Dr. Frederick Hampton Roy Sr. of Little Rock as one of "America's 10 Outstanding Young Men" for 1971.

The Greater Little Rock Jaycees nominated Roy, 34, the state's only pediatric ophthalmologist, on the basis of his record of treatment and efforts to prevent blindness.

Roy heads a program that includes work at the University of Arkansas Medical Center, the Arkansas Children's Hospital and at the Veterans Administration Hospital. He teaches, conducts research at the Medical Center and VA Hospital and also serves as a consultant to the Arkansas Children's Colony's various units on eye problems.

Roy and the other nine men selected by the Jaycees will be honored Friday and Saturday at Indianapolis, Ind.

Workshop on Relations

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A statewide Workshop on Human Relations, sponsored by the Arkansas Education Association and the National Education Association, will be held Jan. 14-16 at Hot Springs.

"Creating a Climate for Teaching and Learning" is the theme of the workshop.

Terrorists Attack Base in Thailand

BANGKOK (AP) — Terrorists invaded the base in Thailand for B52 operations in the Indochina war early today and slightly damaged two of the big American bombers, the Thai government announced.

Informal sources in Saigon said there was no curtailment of B52 raids on North Vietnamese positions and supply routes in Laos and Cambodia as a result of the attack. "B52 operations are normal today," said the U.S. Command.

U.S. officials in Bangkok and Saigon refused to discuss the attack. But the Thai government said at least three terrorists slipped into the huge Thai-American base at Utao, on the Gulf of Thailand 90 miles southeast of Bangkok, and put explosive charges under some of the parked bombers.

The announcement said Thai guards killed one of the attackers.

There was no mention of casualties among American or Thai personnel. More than 6,000 Americans are stationed at the big base, which is home for about 45 of the eight-jet, $8 million stratofortresses.

In South Vietnam, the Saigon government was investigating the grenade attack that caused more than 100 casualties Saturday night at a government rally in the soccer stadium in Qui Nhon, 275 miles northeast of Seigon.

U.S. officials said they had reports of nine Vietnamese killed and 111 wounded, but some Vietnamese authorities put the count at 12 killed and 115 wounded. Among the wounded were several government officials, including Col. Nguyen Van Chu, the new appointed chief of Binh Dinh province and mayor of Qui Nhon. Authorities in Qui Nhon blamed the attack on the Viet Cong underground, but some officials in Saigon said it may have been a local political plot by rivals of Chu.

The U.S. Command reported its third so-called protective reaction air strike into North Vietnam this year. It said an Air Force F106 escorting a bombing mission over the Ho Chi Minh trail fired a missile at a radar site nine miles inside North Vietnam after detecting that the radar was tracking the flight. There was no report of what the missile hit.

The Command also announced that 3,000 more American troops left Vietnam last week, reducing U.S. strength to 154,000 men. The present target is 130,000 by Feb. 1.

On the outskirts of Saigon, more than a dozen Viet Cong bombed a government administrative office and wounded seven militiamen with gunfire after slipping past booby trap defenses early today.

It was the closest ground attack to the heart of Saigon since a sapper blew up several hundred tons of ammunition near Tan Son Nhut airbase Sept. 19.

Students Involved in School Dispute

By RALPH MARSH
Associated Press Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Fifty high school students have banded together here to work for voter approval of a school tax measure which has become embroiled in an antibusing dispute. Busing isn't involved in their effort, they say, schools are.

The core of a loosely knit organization called KOSO—Keep Our Schools Open—the group is dedicated to passage of a once-routine annual mill levy which will provide about one-third of the Oklahoma City School District's budget for the current academic year.

"Most of the parents are looking to us," one member of KOSO said.

"They have a super organization being developed (to back the levy), but by the time they get organized the election will be over."

Antibusing leaders seized on the millage election last year as a means of showing disapproval of federally ordered busing of students to achieve racial balance in Oklahoma City.

The levy was approved, but with antibusing forces active there was a strong showing against it in an election which drew a heavy turnout of voters. The youngsters fear that with a year to fully organize against the levy, antibusing forces might be able to bring about defeat of the millage.

Leaders of the fight against the levy contend a strong showing of disapproval would convince the federal courts to back away from the busing order.

The youngsters fear defeat would mean a shutdown of the schools or severe cutbacks in areas other than busing. They say appeals to the school board, the city council, the mayor and the governor to take a strong stand for the levy have gone unheeded.

"We realize the opposition is organized now," said young Mark Shanker, a senior at John Marshall High School. "And they got 45 per cent against the millage when they weren't organized."

The youngsters already have representatives involved from all 10 high schools in the district.

They plan to canvass door-to-door, conduct telephone campaigns, provide free transportation to the polls and get involved in as many debates on radio and television as possible.

Their campaign will end just before the Jan. 25 vote with a giant parent-student march and rally.

Series of Arms Thefts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says 40 incidents involving arms, ammunition and explosives thefts occurred in a five-month span during shipments through the states last year.

The list, supplied to the House Commerce Committee and inserted deep in recently published records of a transportation subcommittee hearing, includes reports of missing machine guns, pilfered pistols and thousands of rounds of stolen or lost ammunition.

Cases range from one at East St. Louis, Ill., involving 74 grenade housing assemblies that vanished from a boxcar containing 150,000, to one at Concord, N.H., concerning a stick of 40 per cent gelatin dynamite stolen from a van.

Other samples from the list, covering Jan. 8 through May 27 last year:

—Wilmington, N.C., 2,000 rounds of .45-caliber ammunition marked 8r Bandar, Shahpur, Iran, were lost between Washington, D.C., and Wilmington.

—Anniston Army Depot, Ala.,

37 containers received from Norfolk, Va., via a motor line, inventory disclosed 441 M14 rifles missing; seals on the containers were intact and boxes in the containers were banded.

—Bellwood, Ill., three 81mm mortar shells stolen from railroad car when shipped from Lexington, Ky., to Camp McCoy, Wis.

—Letterkenny Army Depot, Chambersburg, Pa., 5,000 rounds of .22-caliber ammunition stolen from rail car bound for West Point, N.Y.

No Rainfall Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
No precipitation is expected in Arkansas through Tuesday.

Radar indicated that all shower activity moved out of the state shortly after 4 a.m. today. Dense fog was reported this morning in north Arkansas with visibility near zero in some areas. The fog was expected to clear during the morning.

Fair skies and cooler temperatures are forecast for tonight and Tuesday.

Highs today should be in the low 60s northwest to low 70s south. Highs Tuesday will be in the low 50s northwest to mid 60s southeast.

Lows tonight should be in the low 30s northwest to low 40s southeast.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 30, Harrison 35, Jonesboro 47, Memphis 57, Texarkana 42, El Dorado 44, Little Rock 48 and Fort Smith 36.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. include .01 at Little Rock, .16 at Jonesboro, .05 at Pine Bluff and .31 of an inch at Memphis.

Councils to Organize

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — District Coordinating Councils will be organized later this month in each of the Arkansas Education Association's 15 districts to serve as intermediate units between the AEA Board of Directors and local associations.

The AEA Board's decision to establish the councils is based on a recommendation which resulted from a report of evaluating the AEA program.

Says Hughes Autobiography Fraud

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A guttural, relaxed-sounding voice on the telephone, identified by Howard Hughes' spokesmen as that of the billionaire industrialist emerging from long seclusion, said his purported forthcoming autobiography is a fraud.

"Patently false" and "a totally fantastic fiction" were other terms he used to describe the book in the long-distance conference with seven reporters gathered about a table in a Los Angeles hotel banquet room.

But the publishers, McGraw-Hill Book Co. and Life magazine, repeated Sunday their belief they have "the authentic biography."

All the newsmen agreed as the conference ended that it was Hughes' voice.

In Somerville, N.J., Lawrence Kersta, head of Voiceprint Laboratories and inventor of a system that permits voice identification so accurate it is admissible in court, compared tapes of the conversation with tapes of Hughes' voice made nearly 25 years ago.

Kersta concluded: "It is my opinion that it is indeed the voice of Howard Hughes."

Filed Friday, the two-hour, 40-minute session was broadcast in part Sunday by radio stations and the NBC, CBS and ABC television networks. NBC, which filmed it, made films and sound tapes available to the other outlets.

In a voice that was a little raspy, pausing at times, the 66-year-old "phantom financier," whose fortune is estimated at $2 billion, said also:

—He plans to become less of a recluse, to resume flying and return eventually from the Bahamas to Las Vegas, Nev.

—He definitely expects to have a face-to-face interview with newsmen, intends to have photographs taken for public distribution and wants to resume movie production.

—His health is "tolerable," but he is not happy or content and is hounded by lawsuits and "overhanging threats" such as the alleged autobiography.

The news conference, said by Hughes' spokesmen to be his first in more than 15 years, provided the latest development in a dispute over the authenticity of the 230,000-word book which McGraw-Hill is scheduled to publish March 27. Life magazine plans to serialize three 10,000-word installments before then.

When McGraw-Hill announced in December it had acquired rights to the manuscript, a Hughes Tool Co. spokesman denied within hours that such a book exists.

Hughes said he was in Nassau in his top-floor quarters at the Britannia Beach Hotel.

Asked about Clifford Irving, listed as his collaborator on the autobiography, he said: "I don't know him. I never saw him. I have never even heard of him until a matter of days ago when this thing first came to my attention."

All Around Town

A A and Alanon groups have been meeting at the W.O.W. Hall on Monday nights for a number of years, but they now have a building of their own located at Jones Street and the Spring Hill Road. Much work has been done the past few weeks in preparation for the first meeting there, which will be tonight, January 10, at 8 p.m. There is plenty of parking space available.

Last night on national television Ethel Merman was honored on "This Is Your Life" program. As everyone knows Miss Merman is one of the greatest Broadway musical stars with many outstanding hits. Old friends that greeted her included Miss Temple Texas, daughter of C. O. Temple of Hope. She was at one time a press agent for Miss Merman and has performed on the stage in many Broadway productions.

From East Texas comes a report about a former Hope resident, Ronnie Norvell, who received his master's degree in education at East Texas University. He received his bachelor's degree last year at the same institution. Ronnie is a graduate of Longview, Texas High School, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Norvell and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Worthey of Hope, Rt. 3. He and his wife will make their home in Houston, Texas where he is employed by Houston Community College as vocational counselor.

Navy Petty Officer Third Class James L. Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Cox of Route 1, McCaskill, Ark., is in the Mediterranean aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS John F. Kennedy whose port is Norfolk, Virginia.

The January meeting of the Hempstead County Antique Collectors Club, scheduled to be held Monday, January 10, at the Douglas Building has been canceled.

The next meeting will be in February.

Arson Linked to Fire at Fort Smith

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Fort Smith Fire Marshal Gene Weiss says fires that either damaged or destroyed about 32 units of a 100-unit low rent housing project were the result of arson. Investigators said fires were set early Saturday in five unoccupied buildings in the $1.3 million federally financed housing project, which is under construction. There are 16 buildings in the complex. No estimate of damage was available. Don Hart, a fireman, was treated at a Fort Smith hospital after he fell through the second floor of one of the buildings. The project, being sponsored by the Rev. G. Edward West, only Negro on the Fort Smith Board of Directors, and the African Methodist Episcopal Church at Fort Smith, has been the target of controversy since construction began in September. The Rev. West said the five buildings hit by fire were those nearest to completion. He said the units had been ready for rental by the end of the month. The Northside Property Owners Association, a predominantly white group formed after work on the project began, has filed a suit in U.S. District Court at Fort Smith. The suit charges the Housing and Urban Development Department with violation of civil rights acts by locating the project, which will be integrated, on the north side of the city. The group alleges that the government has permitted construction although all of the low-income housing in the city is located within a three-mile radius in the north side of town. The north side of Fort Smith is integrated and the south side is not. HUD has denied the charges. The Rev. West said Saturday he thought the fires were "tragic" but that he did not think "the act is indicative of the feelings of the entire community."

Records to Be Auctioned

KXAR Annual Record Auction is to be held Saturday, January 15, from 12:00 noon to 7:30 p.m. Proceeds from the auction will be given to the Lions' Club Boy Scout Troop and the First Presbyterian Church Boy Scout Troop. Haskell Jones, General Manager of Radio Station KXAR announced plans for the auction. Mr. Jones has given the Boy Scouts 52 weeks of the Tommy Country and Western Show, several hundred Gospel, Country, Stand, Contemporary, and Jazz records to be auctioned off. Also included are some old 78 rpm Christmas records. Albums will be sold to the highest bidder in lots of 2 and 5 records. Records and 5 1/2 hours time are being donated by KXAR. All money from the auction will be used locally by the two Boy Scout Troops. Boy Scouts and Scout Leaders will be on duty all Saturday afternoon to accept bids on all records. Area residents are urged to tune in Saturday afternoon to KXAR as Scouts and leaders take over to sell records. Records sold will be delivered that day by Boy Scouts.

Pryor Visiting in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., plans to spend the next eight days in Arkansas, weighing his chances of winning the U.S. Senate seat currently held by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark. Pryor said that after spending eight days in the state, he will return to Washington for the opening of the congressional session and then come back to Arkansas and "spend a considerable amount of time." "I will be doing some speaking, but more listening as to the political climate," Pryor said. Pryor said he was seriously considering the Senate race and would decide on or about March 1 whether to make the race or run for a fourth term from the 4th District. "My decision certainly has not been made at this time," he said. "I'm looking at it."

Prison Issues Talked Over by Two Groups

TUCKER INTERMEDIATE REFORMATORY, Ark. (AP) — The Tucker Inmate Council met with the state Board of Correction Saturday and complained of limitations on correspondence and visitation and the ban on packages. Apparently, it was the first time in history that the council had met with the board. Lonnie Brown, whose death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment late in 1970 by then Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, did most of the talking for the council. He said the inmates' major complaints involved new correspondence and visitation rules imposed at Tucker since R. G. Britton became superintendent in October and the ban on packages. Britton said the ban keeps inmates from getting such items as sweatshirts and dress socks without purchasing them at high prices in the prison commissary. Under the correspondence and visitation rules, inmates are allowed to have only six approved correspondents and visitors, including the same six for mail and visits. Brown said the inmates "need their visits." "They need their mail..." he said. "I've seen grown men drop their heads when they didn't get a letter." Brown said one prisoner who is serving a life sentence has 13 brothers and sisters. "He's got to choose," Brown said. "He's had to make a choice saying... I like this brother better than this brother." Brown told the board, Britton and Correction Commissioner Terrell Don Hutto that he recognized the need for restrictions because of the possibility of

Court to Take Up Immigration Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide if the government was violating the First Amendment by barring foreign citizens who advocate communism or the establishment of a totalitarian dictatorship in the United States. A three-judge federal district court panel in New York ruled that it had, and said sections of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 were unconstitutional. The high court will review that decision beginning with a hearing later this term. The government had appealed the lower court decision on behalf of Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Secretary of State William P. Rogers. The original court case was filed by a group of American scholars on behalf of Dr. Ernest E. Mandel, an internationally known Belgian Marxist who had been invited to speak on several U.S. campuses. Mandel, although a Marxist, is not a member of the Communist party. He had been granted visas to enter the U.S. in 1962 and in 1968. The basic question in the case, as it was in the New York Times case last session, is when the rights of citizens end and the rights of governments begin. The Supreme Court last session refused to uphold the government's attempt to keep the Times from publishing a study of the Vietnam war which had been classified top secret. It ruled the First Amendment could be abridged only when the government could show national security would be endangered. The court held the government failed to do so. The lower court panel in the Mandel case ruled that Mandel had no individual right to enter the country but that citizens of the United States had the right under the First Amendment to "have the alien enter and to hear him explain and seek to defend his views."

'No Fault' Meet Planned

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — All lawyers in the state have been asked to meet Jan. 22 at Hot Springs to organize opposition to "no fault" insurance. The meeting was called by James T. Gooch of Arkadelphia, president of the Arkansas Trial Lawyers Association. He said in a letter to lawyers that no fault insurance "will not only cause auto insurance rates to increase but will also destroy the foundations of a legal system that has well served this state since its admission to the Union." Gov. Dale Bumpers said late last month that it was time for the state to give serious consideration to no-fault legislation in view of what he called the "very dramatic results achieved in Massachusetts." Massachusetts is the first state with a no-fault insurance law. Reportedly, the legislation produces lower insurance premiums.

Liner Queen Elizabeth Is Destroyed by Fire

By FORREST EDWARDS Associated Press Writer HONG KONG (AP) — The once-proud passenger liner Queen Elizabeth, transformed into an 83,000-ton incinerator by 24 hours of fires and explosions, capsized today in Hong Kong harbor halfway around the world from the Atlantic searanes she once ruled. "She rolled over and died," said a Marine Department spokesman at the outlying Tsing Yi island anchorage where the 1,031-foot former pride of the Cunard Line was being converted for use as a combination cruise ship and floating university for Chapman College of Orange, Calif. The Seawise University as the ship had been renamed was lying on her side, her one remaining funnel just above the water line. The other funnel collapsed earlier in the fire. Firefighting officials said they believed no one died in the fire. Between 800 and 900 workmen were believed aboard the ship when fire broke out Sunday, but most of them got off by the normal exits. About 200 others jumped into the harbor or clambered down ropes and anchor chains. Nine Chinese workmen were hospitalized for injuries and scores more were given first aid. The cause of the fire was not known, but the ship's last British master, Commodore Geoffrey Marr, said at his home in England: "I do not believe this fire could have started accidentally. The flames spread too quickly for that. It must be sabotage. I cannot understand how it could have spread so quickly unless it started in two or three places simultaneously."

Obituaries

MRS. THELMA SIMMONS Mrs. Thelma King Simmons, age 54, of Texarkana died Saturday. Survivors include her husband, Truett Simmons; a son, Carlton Simmons of Alaska; a daughter, Mrs. James Melton of Texas; a brother, Carlton King of Hope; and two sisters, Mrs. Van Boyce of Hope and Mrs. Jack Silvey of Clarksville. Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Monday at Williams Memorial Methodist Church. Burial will be at Hillcrest Cemetery by East Funeral Service. MRS. GILBERT CLARK Mrs. Gilbert Clark, 84, longtime resident of Hempstead County died Monday in a local nursing home. Arrangements will be announced by Oakcrest Funeral Home. JETTIE MARIE JOHNSON Funeral rites for Mrs. Jettie Marie Johnson, 38, were held Sunday at Oakcrest Funeral Chapel by Rev. C. C. Truitt. Burial was in Ayers Cemetery by Oakcrest Funeral Home. Mount Ranier's snowfall in the 1955-56 season was more than 83 feet, heaviest ever recorded in the United States. One officer of the Hong Kong fire service also commented that the spread of the fire through the ship's 11 decks was "surprisingly, phenomenally fast." Investigating authorities said they had not ruled out the possibility of arson. The fire-blackened bulk lay on the bottom in 50 feet of water, gray smoke still pouring up. "When it keeled over it was possible to see right through the vessel, from the top right down to the keel, because all 11 decks had collapsed," Gordon Milward of the Marine Department said. "The possibility that it was deliberately started is purely conjecture but everything has to be considered," he commented. "It could have happened for any of a thousand different reasons." The 34-year-old ship had been bought by Hong Kong shipping magnate C.Y. Tung for $3.2 million, and a spokesman said another $8 million or $9 million had been spent to convert and modernize her. She was to have sailed to Japan late this month for drydock work, with her first cruise planned for next summer. Late this afternoon the fire was reported easing, but there was fear that 3,000 tons of heavy fuel oil in the bottom tanks would be freed and pollute the harbor. Fireboats equipped with emulsifiers were standing by.

MRS. KENNETH RAY KOEN

In a candlelight ceremony before an altar banked with holly and pine, Miss Helen Huff Hege became the bride of Kenneth Ray Koen at the First Baptist Church of Hollywood, Florida, with the Rev. David E. Holt and the Rev. William N. Gardner, former pastor, officiating.
The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Roy Hege, Jr. of Hollywood, Florida. She is the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Hege of Concord, North Carolina; and Mrs. Mamie David Huff of Birmingham, Alabama. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hillman S. Koen, Jr. of Hope. He is the grandson of Mrs. Wilma Clark of Little Rock, Arkansas, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Hillman S. Koen.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Victorian gown of ivory silk dimity, accented with rows of tiny round lace on a fitted bodice and bordering the skirt which extended from the natural waistline into a cathedral train. She wore an heirloom cameo at the throat high collar and carried a lace handkerchief, both of which have been worn by all the brides in her mother's family since 1840.
Her veil of French illusion was attached to a baby's cap of the same Alencon lace which was used in her sister's wedding veil. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of bride's roses and

North Country Coming Here
NORTH COUNTRY, is an outdoor, color, action-adventure motion picture about the exploits of modern-day Alaskan trapper, Jeff Graham.
This exciting film, shot entirely on location, follows woodsman Graham through one year of his life as he camps in the frozen wilds of the far north country trapping beaver, fox, and muskrat. In this true-to-life feature, Graham pans gold and serves as a backcountry guide over some of Alaska's roughest terrain to earn just enough to pay for what little he needs from civilization. Otherwise, he lives off the land, hunting only out of necessity.
None of the characters in NORTH COUNTRY are actors. These are all real Alaskans portraying their real lives.
Ron Hayes filmed, directed, and appears in NORTH COUNTRY. He has masterfully captured on film this land's magnificent scenery, rare wildlife, and unique people.
NORTH COUNTRY, G-rated, is a Rainbow Adventure, film, released by American National Enterprises, the company that brought you COUGAR COUNTRY. This is the unique motion picture firm dedicated to presenting only all-family entertainment to the public.
NORTH COUNTRY will play at the Saenger Theatre in Hope, Wednesday and Thursday, January 12-13.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Three film features made for television filled some network hours over the weekend.

These low-budget, quickly produced films are generally well produced, intelligently acted but often demonstrate that the item of vital importance is a good script.

Sunday night there was the two-hour "The Bravos," an old-fashioned cavalry-vs.-the-Indians western made a couple of years ago.

It was packed with action—wagon trains being attacked, the fort short of ammunition and provisions, the grizzled wily scout, war whoops and galloping hoofs. George Peppard played the staunch fort commander, tough on the outside but a warm, wonderful human being inside. Best part were the great shots of plains and desert in the Southwest.

Old hat as it was, it seemed the best of the weekend movie crop.

ABC's Saturday night "Movie of the Weekend" was "The Astronaut," with Monte Markham playing, first, an astronaut dying from some mysterious atmospheric poison when making the first landing on Mars, but whose death was concealed to prevent the cutoff of the space agency's funds.

Most of the program, however, Markham played a look-alike imposter the agency heads slipped into the astronaut's space suit after splash-down.

Less futuristic science fiction than a highly unlikely romance—the dead man's wife and the imposter fell in love—the whole thing had rather unpleasant overtones in the elaborate plotting to conceal disaster from the public and even from the president. But just as the couple wandered into the sunset hand in hand, the hoax was revealed, just in time to save from a similar fate some Russian cosmonauts en route to Mars.

CBS's "Killer By Night" on Friday was a little short on credibility but at least the plot had the germ of an interesting idea: The frantic hunt by a public health doctor for the source of a diphtheria outbreak in a large city.

Robert Wagner played the harried physician attempting to track down spreaders of the contagious disease. His problems were compounded by a reluctant police captain, icily played by Gregg Morris.

There were a lot of grisly death-bed interrogation scenes, arguments between the doctor and the captain, and an improbable last minute solution. But at any rate, it wrapped up all the loose ends in one neat package.

TWO MICE REPLACED
STOKE-ONTRENT, England, (AP) — A museum here has fired two of its personnel because they're shy of people. The victims are two mice.
They were kept to run round a model treadmill generating electricity. But they couldn't stand the crowds peering at them. The museum has given the job to three gerbils, another kind of rodent.

MAKE IT ON YOUR OWN, MAN!
Dear Helen:

I am 42 years old and have of necessity lived with my parents for eight years since my divorce. At first, they welcomed me back. They are now constantly bickering and I am caught in the middle. Then they both turn on me and say if I don't like it, leave!

I'd like to leave, but I pay very high alimony and child support, and can't afford an apartment and meals out. That is, if I moved out, it would be into a slum area, which is below what I'm used to by a long way. (My income has decreased since the recession.) Should I take a room for myself, giving up luxuries, perhaps even my car, or should I

Longest Winning Streak Ended by Champion Bucks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"It's fantastic," said a happy Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello after his fired-up Bucks had ended the longest winning streak in professional sports history, thrashing the Los Angeles Lakers 120-104.

"I'm just glad we were in a position to do it," added Costello after the Bucks had handed the Lakers their first National Basketball Association setback since Oct. 31 and stopped their 33-game victory skid Sunday.

Lakers' Coach Bill Sharman also used the word "fantastic," but in a different fashion. "We played fantastic for two and a half months," he said, "and it had to end. But I hope we're smart enough to learn by our mistakes so we can play better against them the next time."

"It was a great performance, and that's what it took to beat a team like Los Angeles," said Costello.

"I think we were flat and didn't play well," said Shar-man, "but I give Milwaukee credit. They were very aggressive."

Both coaches agreed that defense was the deciding factor.

Another key point occurred early in the third period, when the Lakers' massive center, Wilt Chamberlain, picked up his fourth personal foul. After that, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the Bucks' big center, scored 23 of his game-high 39 points. Jabbar also finished with 20 rebounds, while Chamberlain, who never has fouled out of a high school college or pro game, had only 15 points and 12 rebounds.

"I'm ashamed we didn't play better," said an embarrassed Chamberlain.

Meanwhile, in the NBA, Baltimore Beat Phoenix 109-103, Golden State edged Houston 113-112, Chicago defeated Cincinnati 108-104 in overtime, Detroit downed Buffalo 101-96, and Seattle topped Boston 125-119.

Jack Marin's 28 points paced Baltimore's streaking Bullets to their sixth straight victory.

Cazzie Russell, who hit a key three-point play with 51 seconds remaining, fired in 31 points and Nate Thurmond and Jeff Mullins each scored 25 points, pacing the Warriors' triumph over Houston.

Chicago's Chet Walker hit seven of his game-high 33 points in overtime, helping the Bulls hand Cincinnati its 14th straight setback, three short of the league record.

Jimmy Walker of Detroit pumped in 35 points as the Pistons saddled Buffalo with its 13th loss in 14 games.

Seattle survived an 18-point fourth-quarter outburst by Boston's John Havlicek in holding off the Celtics. The Super-Sonics' Spencer Haywood led all scorers with 33 points, one more than Boston's Jo Jo White.

In the NBA Saturday, it was: Buffalo 97, Cincinnati 87; Chicago 113, New York 106; Baltimore 110, Atlanta 102; Philadelphia 130, Phoenix 119; Milwaukee 135, Detroit 119; Portland 125, Cleveland 102, and Golden State 128, Boston 106.

NCAA Split Seems to Be Inevitable

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) —

The National Collegiate Athletic Association wound up its 66th annual convention Saturday leaving the impression that the 656-body eventually will be split into separate divisions, probably at next January's meeting.

The delegates rejected three proposals that would have convened an unprecedented special convention later this month to consider methods of curbing the rising costs of intercollegiate athletics.

In other key legislation, the football and basketball seasons were granted earlier starts. Football can begin Sept. 1 rather than the second Friday in September and basketball's opening was advanced from Dec. 1 to the last Friday in November.

The convention turned down proposals to abolish the controversial 1.6 scholarship eligibility grade requirement and to permit two outside scrimmages in addition to a 26-game basketball schedule.

In other action, the delegates:

—Refused to limit the number of college campuses a prospective athlete may visit, but ruled that he may make only one expense-paid visit to each institution, all in his senior year of high school. The limit had been two visits to a school.

—Refused to restrict the number of visits a college's staff member may make to a prospective athlete.

—Refused to permit summer basketball competition for members of college teams.

—Refused to restrict the use of summer camps by coaches for recruiting purposes.

—Restricted entertainment of prospective athletes and their families to the campus and prohibited entertaining their friends and other relatives.

—Prohibited representatives of athletic interests from transporting relative and friends of prospective athletes.

The delegates turned thumbs down on proposals for a special convention to consider putting athletic scholarships on an individual student's need basis as a means of saving money and also splitting the NCAA into separate divisions so schools of each size could vote on ways of solving their own problems.

"I wasn't surprised, but I was disappointed," said Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA. "There's no way to get these proposals before the members now until next January. The NCAA Council can call a special convention by

Marquette Defeats Gamecocks

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Second-ranked Marquette and fourth-ranked South Carolina squared off to settle things in one of those typical brawls among college toughs.

They even managed to play basketball while they were at it.

Marquette survived a punching bout and South Carolina's mistake-inducing press to defeat the Gamecocks 72-71 in a tinging match of independent powers Sunday.

Before the game was over, each team lost a heavyweight—Marquette's Bob Lackey and South Carolina's Tom Riker were given the thumb after exploding a melee under the Gamecock basket.

"It happened like fire," said South Carolina Coach Frank McGuire of the battle early in the second half between the 210-pound, 6-foot-6 Lackey and the 6-10, 225-pound Riker.

The two forwards fired punches and sparked high emotion from the sidelines. Both benches emptied, but the melee was broken up shortly by officials and coaches while the South Carolina band played the Star Spangled Banner.

Riker, who sat out the dramatic finish with an icepack on his hand, will be X-rayed for possible fractures today. Lackey suffered another kind of pain: "The worst part was sitting out the rest of the game."

"The fight really meant nothing, it's best to ignore it," said Al McGuire, the Marquette coach who is no relation to Frank.

The Marquette-South Carolina warfare was the only battle Sunday among ranked teams. Everyone else was in action Saturday, including top-ranked UCLA, which beat Oregon 93-68.

Third-ranked North Carolina defeated Furman 114-66; Minnesota tripped No. 5 Indiana 52-51; sixth-ranked Penn. trimmed Harvard 81-52; No. 7 Louisville whipped Cincinnati 84-76; eighth-ranked Long Beach State downed Fresno State 98-78; No. 9 Virginia stopped North Carolina State 84-73 and 10th-ranked Ohio State topped Purdue 76-70.

Elsewhere, it was 11th-ranked Southern California 87, Oregon State 75; Clemson 63, 12th-ranked Maryland 61; No. 13 Marshall 102, Western Michigan 77; No. 14 Villanova 69, Canisius 65; 15th-ranked Southwestern Louisiana 75, Northeast Louisiana 73; No. 16 Hawaii 86, Centenary 91; Syracuse 87, 17th-rated St. John's, N.Y. 83; No. 18 Brigham Young 88, Arizona 67; No. 19 Kentucky 93, Mississippi 82 and 20th-ranked Florida State 106, East Tennessee State 93.

The Warriors and Gamecocks got back to basketball after the fistfights and really gave the crowd at the Carolina Coliseum something to shout about.

South Carolina twice had possession of the ball in the final minute but was unable to score. A shot at the buzzer by Kevin Joyce was short.

Jim Chones scored 17 points, including a key field goal under the two-minute mark that kept Marquette in command.

Pro Teams Get a Big Reception

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The loyal hometown fans made it to Super Bowl VI town before the Miami Dolphins and the Dallas Cowboys arrived Sunday night, so-like loyal hometown fans—they went out to greet the teams.

"This reception is a big surprise to us," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry. "We had a big sendoff in Dallas, but we didn't expect anything like this here."

Some 125 fans clustered at the airport to see the Cowboys come in. More crowded in the motel lobby where the team is staying.

About 75 persons jammed into the reception room at the airport gate that the Dolphins filed through and others gathered at the hotel where the team is headquartered.

"This is something," said Miami placekicker Garo Yepremian in amazement.

Though short and bald, Yepremian was easy to spot—he wore a bright red sportcoat, a red and white striped shirt and a red tie, compliments of his own tie-manufacturing firm.

"Yeah, the business has really picked up," he said, showing the "Garo Yepremian" label in his neckwear.

Two teammates, running backs Jim Kiick and Larry Csonka, were thinking about the Dallas Domesday Defense that made them National Conference champions.

"They're a good defensive team but we've faced good defensive teams before," Kiick said. "I don't think we'll have trouble running against them... if we play like we are capable of playing."

Csonka was somewhat more respectful of the Cowboys.

"Sure, they have a great offensive team and hell, yes, we're going to have a tough time with them, but that doesn't mean we're not going to try," Csonka said.

The Miami players weren't the only Dolphins at their motel. "Jumbo" and "Tinkerbell," two real dolphins, were imported from a Gulfport, Miss., resort to frolic in the motel pool.

Tight end Billy Truax thinks the American Conference winners are the toughest team Dallas will be facing all year.

"They had to be, to get where they are," he said.

"They are aggressive. It's their aggressiveness I respect," added reserve quarterback Craig Morton. "We haven't seen much of them, but we know they're going to be tough."

Rice Has Coach and Georgia Tech Looking

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"How can a team have confidence in a man who everyday is on trial for his life?"

Bitter and emotionally shaken, Bud Carson exploded his bad feelings after losing the football coaching job at Georgia Tech.

Carson's expulsion came during a day of otherwise happy activity as three new coaches were named Saturday—Al Conover at Rice; Cal Stoll at Minnesota; and Tom Harper at Wake Forest.

Carson said he wasn't only hurt by his dismissal, but also puzzled.

"I don't even know why I'm being fired," he told a gathering of newsmen at Atlanta. "I guess I don't part my hair right or have the right image."

Athletic Director Bobby Dodd, who made no recommendation on whether Carson should be retained, formally submitted his own resignation. But the athletic board refused to accept it and instructed Dodd to begin searching for a new coach.

Earlier in the week, acting university President James E. Boyd said he was reviewing a report submitted by "prominent alumni" that listed complaints about Carson's relationships with players and coaches.

American Bowl Won by North

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Nine days into 1972, the 1971 college football season finally ended.

After what may have seemed like a million regular season contests, a thousand bowls and a hundred all-star games... it's over.

The last straw was the Lions American Bowl, won Sunday by the North All-Stars 27-8 before 20,137 fans at Tampa Stadium and a national television audience. It wasn't exactly a classic finish, but it was a finish.

North quarterback Van Brownson, Jerry Tagge's backup man for national champion Nebraska, fired an 88-yard scoring pass to Bob Christiansen of UCLA and another West Coast hero, Jackie Brown of Stanford, sprinted 22 yards to score and spark the favored Yankees.

The South kept throwing, but even 55 attempts through the air by Brian Sipe of San Diego State and Steve Jude of Texas Christian couldn't make up for a bagful of first half boo-boos.

Stable Vincent of Rice fumbled for the South at the North 12 to set the stage for Brownson's cross-country bomb to Christiansen that made it 7-0 late in the first period.

Iowa tackle Larry Horton put on a one-man show of muscle to hike the count to 14-0 when he smothered a punt by Florida A&M's John Champion and pounced on the ball in the end zone.

John Lanahan of Florida State coughed up the next kickoff for the South and the error led to the first of two field goals by Tennessee's George Hunt, who somehow was named placekicker for the North.

The 17-0 South deficit soon became 24-0 when Bob James of New Mexico State bobbled the ensuing kickoff to start a touchdown drive that was topped with Brown's 22-yard scamper.

Sipe connected six times in the South's only TD thrust and wound up sneaking the final yard. He was named the game's outstanding player and Brown was acclaimed the best for the North.

Local Cage Teams Easy Mark for Magnolia

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Last Saturday night was disastrous for Hope basketball, as the Bobcats, Bobkittens, and B-Bruins all suffered heavy losses to Magnolia's three powerful teams.

Magnolia, the present reigning AA Basketball Champions, went without ace player Willie Dale, last year's most valuable player, to down Hope 75-47.

For the first few minutes, the game was fairly tight, but after Magnolia broke out of a 3-3 tie with 5:23 to go in the period, the outcome was not in doubt as the Panthers overpowered the Cats for a 16-8 margin at the first periods' end.

Only David Briggs, Jimmy Smith, and Buddy Ingram could hit the net for a while and by the time Bill Rowland flipped in a technical foul shot and Jimmy Smith sank two free throws, the Bobcats found themselves trailing, 40-21, at halftime.

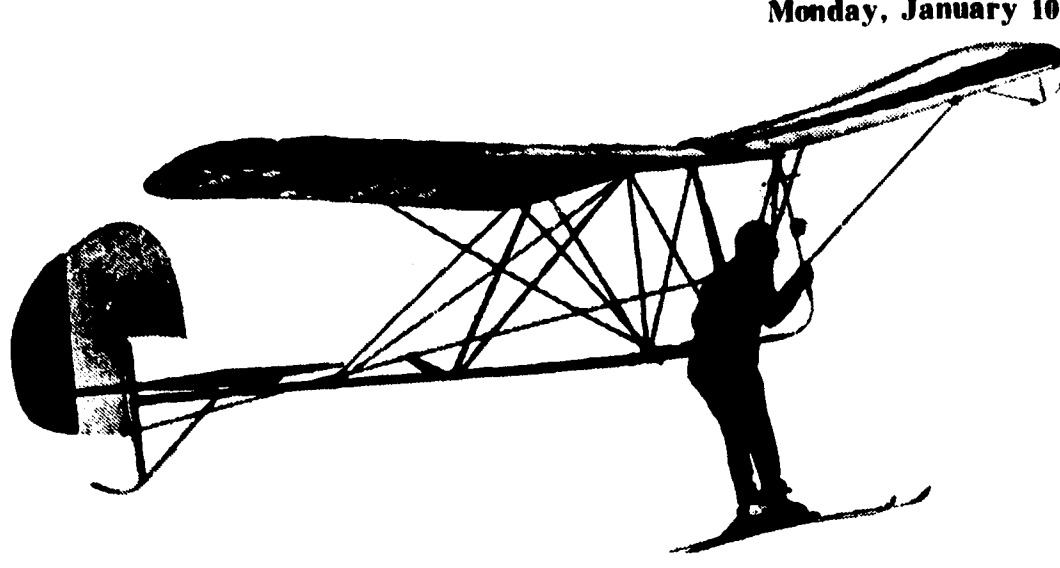

Although the Bobcats took the second half tipoff, nothing else went right as the Panthers steadily increased, emptying the

Barber Gets $1,012 for Play

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Miller Barber of Texarkana, Tex., took home $1,012 Sunday after finishing with a 281 total in the $125,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

Richard Crawford of Prairie Grove, Ark., won $238 after finishing with a 290 total.

Tom Aaron, Dave Hill and George Archer faced a sudden-death playoff today. They were tied Sunday at 270.

WHAT WILL WINTER SPORTS NUTS think of next? Ski-acrobat Art Furrier soars through the air at Hoch-Ybrig, Switzerland, with the aid of a glider specially developed for the slopes. With a wingspan of some 25 feet, it permits short flights after the skier-pilot reaches a downhill take-off speed.

Campbell Open Playoff

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Oh, I'll go out and chase it around and try not to hit too many people," was Dave Hill's laconic assessment of his game plan for today's 18-hole playoff for the title and the $25,000 first prize in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

The slim, dark Hill, a sometimes bad boy who has had countless run-ins with golf-dom's authorities, canned a dramatic 30-foot birdie putt on the final hole to tie George Archer and Tommy Aaron at the end of 72 holes Sunday and force the extra round.

All had 72-hole totals of 270, 14 under par on the 6,823-yard Rancho Park Golf Course. Hill, the last man to finish, and the 6-foot-6 Archer each had a five-under-par 66 on the sunny final day and Aaron, who sported a three-stroke lead going into the round, had a 69.

It was the fourth time in as many years that this tournament—the traditional opening event on the long, rich pro tour—had ended in a playoff. But it was the first time it will go to 18 holes on Monday. The others had been sudden death.

It was set up in that fashion because of television commitments, and neither Aaron nor Archer knew about it before.

Quachita to Meet AM&N

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
In Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball action Monday night No. 1 ranked Ouachita will face Arkansas AM&N, which is currently in the third spot in the AIC.

Last week's AIC games were all close contests. However, the surprising game was one between Ouachita and Harding, which is in last place. Ouachita managed to defeat Harding by only four points.

In other games Monday night Arkansas Tech is at Hendrix, Arkansas College is at Henderson, Harding is at the College of the Ozarks and State College will go against Southern State.

Thursday is also a busy day for the AIC. Ozarks is at Arkansas AM&N, UA-Monticello meets State College, Southern State is at Arkansas College, Hendrix is at Harding and Henderson faces Arkansas Tech.

Saturday Arkansas AM&N plays Hendrix and Ozarks is at Bartlesville Wesleyan.

forehand.

The playoff was scheduled to start at 2:10 p.m. (EST) with national television (CBS-TV) scheduled from 5-6 p.m. All three playoff participants said they would have preferred a sudden death affair.

The winner will get $25,000 and the other two $11,575 each

Freshman Ruling Not Liked by Everyone

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"Revolutionary... wonderful... one of the finest things that has ever happened to college athletics..."

These remarks were from college coaches in response to the NCAA's new ruling that makes freshmen eligible for varsity competition in football and basketball.

But not all the reaction was favorable, according to an Associated Press survey.

Al McGuire of Marquette's second-ranked basketball team, for instance, thought "it is better for the young fellows to have a year out... it's throwing them into the rat race too soon."

But much of the reaction was favorable in a nationwide sampling of response to the rule change made Saturday. The NCAA made the historic decision at its annual convention in Hollywood, Fla.

"It's a revolutionary thing and I think it's wonderful," said basketball Coach Johnny Orr of Michigan. "I don't see why freshmen should sit down. I think a lot of freshmen will play."

Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, the dean of basketball mentors, also liked the ruling.

"I see no reason why a freshman can't play varsity basketball," said Rupp. "They play the same number of games that we do. It means one thing—you never get caught with a bad team. You can rebuild anytime and that's a wonderful thing."

Bill Musselman of Minnesota through the rule would have a great impact.

"There will be more pressure in recruiting the top 20 kids in the country, fighting for them like we never had before."

Dick Campbell, the Xavier basketball coach, said the freshman ruling came "as quite a surprise."

"Right now," said Campbell, "we'll have to start recruiting with people in mind who could play next year. I think the ruling will be more beneficial to football than to basketball."

The ruling made no difference to Missouri's Norm Stewart.

"I'm not sure there would be too many opportunities to use freshmen," he commented. "If it came down to using freshmen or having a freshmen program, I would rather have the program."

Meanwhile, a spot check among some of the nation's major college football conferences at the meeting in Florida brought some negative reaction.

"If we could get enough major conferences to agree, we wouldn't play freshmen," said Charles M. Neinas, commissioner of the Big Eight.

The Big Ten and Pacific-8 Conferences were also opposed to the use of freshmen while the Southwest, Missouri Valley, Atlantic Coast and Western Athletic conferences were for it.

Johnson said he thought there would be occasions when the new rule would help the Razorbacks, such as in the search for a kicking specialist to replace Bill McClard. "However, I don't think our freshman program will be changed a great deal," he said.

Johnson said Arkansas was not far enough into recruiting to know what freshmen might play on the varsity next season.

The Arkansas basketball coaches were unavailable for comment.

Head football coach Frank Broyles and Athletic Director George Cole were attending the NCAA meeting.

ASU Drops a Close One

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Bill Mohon's free throw with 12 seconds remaining proved to be the margin of victory as Midwestern University turned back Arkansas State University 73-72 here Saturday night.

Mohon's free throw gave Midwestern a three-point lead and Calvin Breedlove's basket at the buzzer narrowed the margin to one.

ASU led by two points at the half, but Midwestern took a five-point lead early in the second half and then went into a stall. With less than five minutes remaining, Midwestern led 61-52.

Breedlove and John Belcher scored 20 points each for the Indians, who are now 4-4.

Olympics Open on Wednesday

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — The 1972 Winter Olympics Village in Sapporo, Northern Japan, will be officially opened Wednesday — but the Village's post office beat the gun by beginning business today.

More than 100 cooks recruited to help feed the 1,779 athletes also plan to begin working Tuesday when they will cook up what officials describe as "a feast" for 250 persons who have been selected to taste the meals.

Officials estimate it will cost roughly $10 daily to feed each Village resident. The menu will offer a variety of dishes including crab and Irish potatoes, both products of Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost main island on which Sapporo is located.

The Feb. 3-13 Sapporo Games are the first Winter Olympics to be held in Asia. Japan hosted Asia's first Summer Olympics in Tokyo in 1964.

The Winter Olympic Village sprawls over an area of 140,000 square meters. In addition to living quarters, it also will have a cafeteria, medical clinic, banks, shopping center and sauna baths.

The residential buildings will be offered to Japanese families for their use when the Olympics end.

Conover Is Rice Coach

HOUSTON (AP) — Among all the uncertainties facing Al Conover as he starts his tenure as Rice head football coach, such as recruiting and naming his staff, one area that will not change is the pro-style offense Conover helped install.

Conover has been a student of the passing game during the past six years as an assistant under Bill Peterson at Florida State and Rice, and he doesn't plan any changes now that he is the head man.

"The offense that I have been exposed to the past six or seven years is the offense I believe in the offense, I think Rice can win with it," said Conover, who became Rice's head coach during the weekend, replacing Peterson.

Conover came to Rice last year with Peterson and was offensive coordinator last season when Peterson installed his popular brand of football.

Broyles at Top of Georgia Tech List

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia Tech begins an unaccustomed task today—the search for a new head football coach. And, as expected, the list of potential candidates grows larger each day.

At the top of the list is Frank Broyles, a former Tech player and assistant who built the University of Arkansas into a football power.

Broyles was one of the top candidates five years ago when Tech, failing to lure the Razorback coach to his alma mater, settled on Bud Carson, who was fired Saturday after compiling a 27-27 chart in five seasons with the Yellow Jackets.

Carson was only the fourth head coach in Tech's 80-year football history.

Among the other candidates frequently mentioned is Ray Graves, athletic director at the University of Florida. Graves was an assistant under Bobby Dodd when Dodd was head coach at Tech.

Other names also tossed about include Iowa State Coach Johnny Majors, Vanderbilt Coach Bill Pace, Maxie Baughman of the Washington Redskins and New Orleans Saints assistant Charlie Tate.

Much of the early speculation has centered on Broyles, a two-time All-Southern Conference football and basketball player during his student days at Tech in the mid-1940s. He later served as an assistant under Dodd.

Broyles has spent the past 14 seasons at Arkansas, posting a 112-37-2 record. His 1972 outfit is expected to be one of his best with most of the players who compiled an 8-3-1 chart last year returning.

The Arkansas coach reportedly has declined to return calls from Atlanta newsmen. He has been in Florida attending the National Collegiate Athletic Association's annual meeting.

However, the sports editor of the Arkansas Gazette in Little Rock, Orville Henry, quoted Broyles Sunday as saying Tech has not contacted him.

And, according to Henry, Broyles dropped a hint such an effort might be futile.

"The University of Arkansas football program is such that I don't believe Arkansas fans need worry about losing their coach," Henry quoted Broyles as saying.

Tech's Athletic Association Board decided not to rehire Carson after a 42-page report, submitted by an alumni group, criticized Carson's coaching techniques and his relationships with players and other coaches.

Acting President James Boyd said, "The board did not honor any such charges or undertake to give credence to those charges."

Carson told newsmen he doesn't know why he was dismissed. "I guess I don't part my hair right or have the right image," he suggested.

3 Porkers Reinstated

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas basketball coach Lanny Van Eman has reinstated three players suspended a week ago for violation of the team code.

The players are Vernon Murphy, Gary Rymer and Ron Van Eman, nephew of the coach. They were suspended for a week following an incident in Memphis on New Year's Eve.

"The players will assume the bottom places on the squad," Van Eman said. "They will have to work themselves back into playing contention."

The Razorbacks, who have lost seven straight, open Southwest Conference play against TCU at Fort Worth Saturday.

'Let There Be Super Bowl VI'

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Super Sabbath falls on January 16, Anno Domini 1972. It is the holiest day on the sports calendar. Heathens call it "Super Sunday."

On this day, the nation's yearly Armageddon, known in Sunday School player books as the "Super Bowl," is played. This year the Dolphins, from the land flowing with salt water and sequins, are pitted against the Cowboys, a band of crusaders from the land of chili and saddle sores.

A flock of some 70 million Americans, about one-third of the country, will sit plug-eyed and watch the "Super Bowl" clash on television. If the same number had shown up in person for one long-ago predecessor, then the David and Goliath match would have had to be moved out of tiny Palestine and played in a larger arena, like the Holy Roman Empire.

Super Sabbath is big. It is bigger even than Christmas Day. On Christmas Day, Anno Domini 1971, league play-off games were played despite protests from a fringe group of heretics who ranted that Christmas should be left to a bearded philanthropist named Saint Nicholas. True believers consider him a hippie.

In fact, one fanatic in Minneapolis (a town near the North Pole, making the guy an obvious homer) burned his tickets to the Vikings-Cowboys game because, he felt, it was sacrilegious for one man to kick a pig hide and/or a man's hide on December 25.

Indeed! Imagine anyone thinking there could be anything more momentous than a football game, and a football game that has a direct bearing on the S... B... (Only recently have we been given imprimatur to write the hallowed name in full, and new things take awhile to get used to.)

Super Sabbath is only six years old, surprisingly enough. It has only been with us since the "new" American Football League got some religion and coughed up millions of dollars to merge with the "old" National Football League. Immediately, it received sanction.

A church front in Tomah, Wis., for example, welcomed worshippers on the Sunday of Super Bowl I with the exhortation: "Go Go Packers Go Go." And none less than the high priest of football, Vince Lombardi, warned his Green Bay players on the eve of the first Super Bowl that, "On Sunday, there will be no brother-in-lawing."

It was all up-hill after that. Football has grown in America to be one of the most glorious elements of our society, along with hamburger drive-ins and late-night horror movies.

President Nixon, for one, has contributed mightily. In Marty Rabovsky's valuable book, "Super Bowl," he quotes the President in 1969 in a pre-Super Bowl conversation with Kansas City quarterback Len Dawson.

"The world looks up to pro football players for courage," said President Nixon.

Progress. Only a few decades ago, we looked up to Mickey Mouse. And once upon a time, we looked up to Job.

Americans Smoke Despite Many Hazards to Health

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Recognizing that Americans continue to smoke despite the higher risk of cancer, heart attacks and lung diseases, the U.S. surgeon general said today that new efforts must be encouraged to develop safer cigarettes.

And the health hazard may not be limited to smokers, the Public Health Service said in a 226-page report to Congress.

Nonsmokers in a smoke-filled room may be exposed to carbon monoxide levels exceeding some local air-pollution limits, the report said, and especially threatening to persons already suffering from chronic bronchopulmonary and coronary diseases.

"We must continue to encourage cessation as the only certain way to protect both the individual and society from the harmful effects of smoking," Surgeon General Jesse L. Steinfeld said.

"We must also, however, work towards reducing the dangers of smoking for those who have not quit by developing less-hazardous cigarettes and encouraging less-hazardous ways of smoking," he added.

The report, the fifth in a series since the first 1964 surgeon general's report linked cigarette smoking to disease and premature death, recommended that primary emphasis in developing a safer cigarette be aimed at reduction of carbon monoxide, nicotine and tar.

Sen. Frank Moss immediately announced that his Senate Commerce subcommittee will hold hearings Feb. 1, 3 and 10 to consider legislation setting tar and nicotine limits.

Health Secretary Elliot L. Richardson, in a letter accompanying the new smoking report, told Congress his department supports regulatory efforts by the Federal Trade Commission to require health warnings in cigarette advertising along with listings of each brand's tar and nicotine content. Printed health warnings now are required on cigarette packages.

"Should these efforts fail, however, we would return to our previous recommendations that this should be accomplished through legislative action," he said.

The report said carbon monoxide, nicotine and tar are "most likely to contribute to the health hazards of smoking." Removal of six other substances described as probable contributors should be given second priority, it said, before efforts are made to reduce several other compounds considered suspected contributors.

Thinks Report of Kennedy Is Correct

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. John K. Lattimer, the first private physician to see the 1963 autopsy photographs and X-rays of President John F. Kennedy, says his inspection convinced him that the Warren Commission report is correct.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the President was struck down by a single assailant" as the commission stated, Lattimer said Sunday. He added that he had previously had reservations about that finding.

Lattimer, chairman of the department of urology at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, viewed the autopsy material in the National Archives in Washington last Friday.

The Kennedy family deposited the photographs in the archives in 1966 with the stipulation that only government officials would be able to see them for five years.

Lattimer, who has written and lectured about the assassination, applied several years ago for permission to examine the material. The ban expired last October and the family granted him access 11 days ago.

He said the most important thing he learned from the photographs and X-rays was that the first bullet followed a steep trajectory than is shown in a sketch released by the Warren Commission.

Lattimer said that the artist who did the sketch worked "by hearsay" because at the time the Kennedy family did not even allow the commission members to look at the photographs.

Printed by Offset

He said he inspected 65 X-rays, color transparencies and black and white negatives. He added that the color photographs were "so devastating, I can understand why the Kennedy family would be reluctant to make them public."

Doesn't Like Cigar Commercials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Those television commercials for little cigars look mighty familiar to the senator chiefly responsible for forcing cigarette ads off TV. And he doesn't like it.

Same mood, same idea, says Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah—though these days the rugged guys with the admiring girls are drawing on a little cigar instead of a cigarette, thus obeying the law.

"In several cases," Moss said, "smoking products which look like cigarettes and, more importantly, are inhaled like cigarettes, masquerade as cigars, thereby avoiding not only the ban against broadcasting but cigarette taxation as well.

"If you ever caught one of those ads you'd think they're right back into cigarette advertising," said Moss, who argues that sex appeal should not be used to promote something that is potentially dangerous.

Big Welcome for Sheik

Drugs Seized at Benton

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Saline County officers and State Police raided a residence in Saline on Sunday night and arrested 62 persons on charges ranging from possession of marijuana to contributing to the delinquency of a minor to disturbing the peace.

Most of those arrested ranged in age from 18 to 25. Officers said about 20 were female.

Deputy Sheriff Leo Meaux estimated that as many as 90 persons fled when officers arrived. "They hit the woods like a bunch of rabbits," Meaux said.

Meaux said authorities acted after receiving telephone complaints from a nearby church. Five or six Saline County officers participated in the raid along with 15 State Troopers.

A spokesman said those arrested were transported to the sheriff's office in a bus. All of those arrested were released on bond.

Four of those arrested were charged with possession of marijuana. Officers said they confiscated some pills and some material believed to be marijuana.

Bengali people today after more than nine months in Pakistani prisons.

Diplomats and troops of the new Bangladesh army were lined up at Dacca airport to greet the 51-year-old president of Asia's newest nation as he stepped from the British air force jet that brought him from London and New Delhi.

Police had to hold back the huge crowd that surged toward the plane shouting "Joi Bangla"—Victory to Bengal—the rallying cry of the independence movement. Sheik Mujib spawned.

Mujib's 90-year-old father, Sheik Luttfar Rahman, was one of the first to embrace the arriving hero. But his wife waited for him at their cottage in a Dacca suburb.

From the airport, a motorcade took Sheik Mujib through thick crowds to the Ramna race course to speak to his excited followers. It was there on March 7 that the sheik sounded his call for a civil disobedience campaign against Pakistani President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan's regime.

Mujib was arrested March 25 when Yahya Khan ordered his army to crush the Bengali independence movement. Yahya Khan's successor, President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, released the sheik on Saturday and sent him off to London. He met with Prime Minister Edward Heath, and then the British flew him home, with a three-hour stop in New Delhi en route.

He was welcomed to the Indian capital by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, President V. V. Giri and diplomats from about 20 countries, including Britain, the Soviet Union and France. But the United States sent no one to the airport.

Mrs. Gandhi gave her Bengali ally all the honors of a chief of state, including a 21-gun salute, red carpet, national anthems and a military honor guard.

Mujib told newsmen in New Delhi he was thinking of taking Pakistan's bloody attempt to suppress the Bangladesh movement before an international forum.

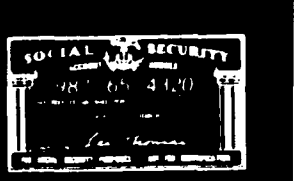

He said he wanted international jurists to review possible war crimes, adding: "My first task is about my unfortunate people who have been killed and butchered. I pray God for the peace of their souls."

However, he said his government's policy would be "friendship to all and malice to none."

Moslems Make Pilgrimage

JERUSALEM, (AP) — More than 1,900 Moslems from the Israeli-occupied territories have left during the past week for the holy pilgrimage to Mecca, a spokesman for the military government said Sunday. He said another 1,000 Arabs were expected to join the pilgrims in the next 10 days.

Questions and Answers

By: GLENDA BOZEMAN

Q. When a worker dies, who gets the lump sum death payment?

A. If an insured worker leaves a husband or wife with whom he or she was living at the time of death, the surviving spouse gets the death payment. When no such spouse survives, upon request by the person who is responsible for the burial, payment will be made to the funeral home. If the burial expenses have already been paid, the person who made the payment can claim the lump sum.

Q. I have saved my doctor bills for this year, and they now total $85. May I submit a claim to Medicare now or should I wait until the end of the year?

A. By all means submit your claim now. If everyone waited until the end of the year to file a claim for Medicare it would create a backlog of claims and a delay in payment.

Q. I reached age 65 this last year and I have had maximum social security earnings each year since social security started. How much a month would I receive in retirement benefits if I quit work now?

A. With maximum earnings through 1970, your retirement benefit beginning at age 65 would be $213.10 a month. If you earned the maximum through 1971, the benefit would be increased to $218.80 in 1972.

Q. A family, with whom I am acquainted, has a fully grown child who has been helpless since birth. Isn't there some way that social security can provide some financial help in a case like this?

A. An insured retired, disabled, or deceased worker earned social security protection for such a child. A child's payments usually end when he reaches age 18, or to age 22 if the child remains unmarried and in school. However, payments can continue without limit as to age for a child who, at age 18, was incapable of self support because of a disability.

SINGERS READ BIBLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Pop music stars Sonny and Cher, Richie Havens and Sea Train will be featured in full-page ads encouraging young people to read the Bible, during national Bible week.

Also, there will be one-minute radio spots featuring the Byrds singing "Turn, Turn, Turn" lyrics from the book of Ecclesiastes.

Lower Tax Rates For Single Persons

By RAY DE CRANE

A new classification has been made on this year's income tax returns. It is called "Certain married persons living apart."

Designed to treat more equitably those married persons who, for reasons of their own, are occupying separate households, the new rules permit them to file as single persons instead of married persons filing separate returns.

This frees them from the many restrictions imposed on the filing of separate returns by married couples.

As singles they have freedom of choice in listing their deductions, instead of being bound to follow the same procedure as their spouse. Without regarding how the other is going to claim deductions, either has free choice to itemize or to claim the standard deduction. On single returns each can claim up to a maximum $1,000 capital loss deduction.

Heretofore, each has been limited to a maximum $500 loss deduction on his or her separate return.

In addition, lower tax rates apply to single taxpayers this year than to married persons filing separate returns.

Here are the requirements that must be met before a married person can file as single:

1. The person so filing maintained as his home for more than half of 1971 the principal living quarters of a son, daughter, stepson or stepdaughter for whom the spouse is entitled to a dependency claim.

2. The taxpayer filing in this fashion must pay more than one-half the cost of maintaining the household.

3. The marriage partner was not a member of that household for any part of the year.

If instead of maintaining the home for more than half of the year, the spouse filing as a single person maintained the home for the entire taxable year, he (or she) qualifies for the even more advantageous "head of household" status and should so indicate by checking

Block 4 in the Filing Status category.

If the proper conditions are met, both spouses could qualify for this "single" treatment. Or one could be classed as "single" and the other "unmarried head of household."

Humphrey Makes His Formal Announcement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey formally announced his third bid for the presidency today, calling for "reconciliation, rebuilding and rebirth."

In a speech prepared for Philadelphia's Poor Richard Club, a spot favored by wealthy Democrats, the 61-year-old junior senator from Minnesota said his first priority would be to end the war in Indochina.

The former vice president, who lost the Democratic presidential nomination to John F. Kennedy in 1960 and the White House race to Richard Nixon in 1968, plans to enter the April 25 Pennsylvania presidential primary.

"Our urgent immediate need," Humphrey said, "is to end the war—and to do it now. It is taking Mr. Nixon longer to withdraw our troops than it took us to defeat Hitler. Had I been elected (in 1968), we would now be out of that war. I repeat that pledge."

Continuing his attack on the Nixon administration, Humphrey said:

"Even three years of sustained indifference and error on the part of an administration with limited vision and understanding cannot fundamentally damage the underlying health and vitality of this nation."

"America is not sick! What we lack is leadership and vision."

In his seven-page text, the former vice president pledged support of equal rights for women, promised to help bring the elderly "back into the mainstream of American life" and to give youth "the full opportunity to help strengthen that sense of community without which we cannot rebuild our nation."

An aide said Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., also would file for the Pennsylvania primary. The deadline for entry is today.

Humphrey was scheduled to fly to Tallahassee, Fla., later in the day to campaign for votes in that state's March 14 primary.

Three other Democratic candidates were in Florida over the weekend.

New York Mayor John Lindsay spoke Sunday to several groups in Tampa before flying to Miami Beach to address the Zionist Organization of America.

During an appearance in a black section of Tampa, Lindsay called for a "coalition of left-out people."

He told the Zionist organization that the United States must do more to help Israel.

Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine ended two days of Florida campaigning Sunday with a strong bid for support from the state's two largest minorities, Jews and blacks.

He planned to fly to Springfield, Ill., today, where Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III was to endorse his candidacy.

Muskie requested President Nixon to use his authority to designate Soviet Jewish refugees to Israel as eligible for American assistance. And he said that blacks and other minorities should be considered by the next president for "the highest places in government."

Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York, who has been appearing before black organizations, women's groups and universities throughout the state, spoke Sunday at Bethany church in Jacksonville.

"I know I won't get all the black votes, the women's votes or all the young people's votes, but I will get a good share of support from all three," she said.

Republican Rep. Paul N. McCloskey said, meanwhile, he would drop his presidential bid if he fails to get more than 15 or 20 per cent of the vote in New Hampshire's March 7 primary.

"If we do poorly—15 or 20 per cent—it would be clear that I don't measure up as a presidential candidate ... and I'd have to drop out," the California congressman said.

McCloskey, who opposes President Nixon's Vietnam policy and conservative Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio, who also has entered New Hampshire's Republican primary, appeared on separate segments of ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Ashbrook said he will enter several other primaries, including Florida, "regardless of what I do in New Hampshire."

Doesn't Expect Appointment

TUCKER INTERMEDIATE REFORMATORY, Ark. (AP)—John Haley of Little Rock, chairman of the state Board of Correction, says he does not expect Gov. Dale Bumpers to reappoint him to the board.

Haley was appointed to the board by former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. His term expires Friday.

Bumpers has said he has not made a decision on the appointment.

Careful to Avoid Breakdown

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—William P. Rogers says "I try to do everything that has to be done" as secretary of state, but he takes care not to let the burdens of office push him to the point of physical breakdown.

"I try to take into consideration that unless you have good health, you can't do a job," Rogers told an interviewer in talking about his personal life in one of the world's busiest posts.

He rated exercise as important, and said he often swims in a small pool at his suburban home after work.

"Fortunately I haven't been sick," he added. "I haven't missed an appointment, and I don't believe I've been late for one" in three years as President Nixon's foreign-affairs chief.

Appointments for a secretary of state total high in this jet age. Aides figure that since January 1969 Rogers has had 75 meetings with heads of state, 96 with heads of government and 366 with foreign ministers, in addition to the usual sessions with Washington-based envoys, legislators, other U.S. officials and private citizens.

He has logged 302,814 miles in traveling to parleys outside Washington, about the same 100,000-mile-a-year pace recorded by predecessors Dean Rusk and John Foster Dulles.

Rogers said this is probably too much touring about but "there is no way to avoid it." If he doesn't go to conferences abroad, he said, they would get downgraded too much because other foreign ministers then wouldn't go either.

At 58, tall, trim and blue-eyed with a receding gray hair, Rogers plainly likes his diplomatic assignment. He has made known his willingness to stay on if Nixon wins re-election.

Beautiful Queen of Nile More Powerful Than King

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Archaeologists using a computer to reconstruct Egyptian temples say Nefertiti, one of the most beautiful queens of the Nile, may have been more powerful than her pharaoh.

"We know beyond any question that she was far more important than ever realized," says Dr. Ray W. Smith, one of the University of Pennsylvania archaeologists who conducted the study.

The archaeologists claim hundreds of thousands of facts digested by the computer recreated a visual picture of six lost years—from 1367 to 1361 B.C.—that no one knew existed.

"It's only a flash in a pan in the life of people," said Smith, director of the federally financed project that began in 1965 and now is winding down at a cost of $600,000. "But it depicts a time of enormous, powerful and startling activity."

Smith said the study provided evidence of Egypt's first one-god religion and its rituals, and revealed "one of the greatest concentrations of building that ever took place in such a short period of time in human history."

Detailed examination of more than 35,000 decorated stone blocks from ancient temples reportedly show Nefertiti may have been more powerful—religiously, anyway—than King Akhenaten.

The history books credit Akhenaten with probably starting the world's first major cultural evolution. His 17-year reign influenced dramatic changes in art, literature, government and social practices, and he was the first to be called pharaoh.

He is also said to have developed a religion that concentrated on one god, the sun's disc, possibly the first attempt at monotheism after the Jews.

"Usually an Egyptian king considered himself an earthly embodiment of his personal deity," Smith said. "We now believe that Nefertiti's status was in the same category."

The temple wall scenes the computer helped rebuild photographically involved mammoth detective work: Finding and photographing the 1-by-2 foot decorated stone blocks scattered in museums and antiquity storehouses around the world.

Smith said the 35,000 stones comprise about 15 per cent of the temple construction in Karnak.

"We've been able to match well over 1,000 scenes," Smith said. "It has revealed colorful wall decorations, and buildings of startling size."

"We discovered that this king didn't build only one temple, he built at least three, in addition to other public buildings."

"And instead of it being only his temple, two may have been temples of Nefertiti which gives her importance in the period which no one ever suspected."

The Father of Modern Dance Is Dead at 80

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Ted Shawn, considered by many to be the father of modern dance, is dead at 80.

Suffering from a heart ailment and respiratory disorders, Shawn had entered Florida Hospital on Dec. 23. He died Sunday.

Shawn started dancing in 1911 as therapy following a bout with diphtheria which left him paralyzed while still a 20-year-old divinity student at the University of Denver.

In 1914 he married famed dancer Ruth St. Denis and together they founded the Denishawn Schools. Denishawn companies toured the country until the school's dissolution in 1931.

Shawn was a prime influence in helping to win acceptance of the dance as a major art form in the United States and for years was the nation's most popular male dancer.

Two of his special interests were the dance in colleges and dance for men. He felt that the dance was probably more natural to men than it was to women.

Shawn choreographed several early movies including one which he appeared as a faun who chased Gloria Swanson in a dream, caught her and squeezed grapes into her mouth.

At Shawn's 80th birthday party recently in New York Public Library's dance room, Miss Swanson, now starring in a Broadway play, appeared carrying a bunch of grapes.

Shawn founded the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival in 1933 at Lee, Mass., and saw attendances grow from 50 persons the first year to more than 50,000 last year.

In 1964, Shawn and his wife—who separated in 1931 but remained close friends until her death in 1969—celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary by dancing together at the festival and on national television.

Friends said Shawn's body will be cremated Tuesday and a memorial service held at a later date.

Oswald: "Let's talk about 10s and nines."

Jim: "You don't count any points for them, but you use their presence or absence to decide whether or not to bid in a close situation. I assume your remark is the prelude to some hand played before I was born."

Oswald: "Close. You were two or three years old when the late Albert Mordecai played a hand very similar to this one."

Jim: "It's easy to see what he did. He decided to open a trump and was careful to lead the nine. Obviously, South was a good player and he fell into the trap."

Oswald: "That is just what happened. South studied awhile and decided that Al had led from nine-small. This marked East with queen-ten-small and gave declarer a chance to avoid the loss of a trump trick against that combination. So South covered the nine with dummy's jack. East's queen fell to the king. South entered dummy with a diamond and finessed against East's theatrical 10 of trumps. Al took the trick and led the ace of hearts and a second heart to East's king. East cashed his ace of clubs to set the contract."

Jim: "The lead is old-hat now in top flight circles. With any other opening declarer would bang down the ace and king of trumps to drop the queen and make his game."

A—Bid just five spades. You want to play in six but don't want your opponents to save at seven hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do bid five spades. Your opponents go to six hearts and then to seven hearts after your six spade bid. East bids the seven hearts. What do you do?

PERSONAL FINANCE

By CARLTON SMITH

Flim-flamming the American public was long ago refined to a high art, and we seem to be witnessing currently a massive example of one of the neater tricks in the book—a version of the old disappearing act.

Over the past few years, car owners have grown increasingly outraged over the inadequacies, the injustices and the exorbitant cost of auto insurance. Along came a new concept called "no-fault insurance," which seemed to hold great promise. So much popular support has been generated in the past three or four years that in 1971 alone, in more than 30 states, "no-fault" insurance was introduced or proposed.

The story of how the old disappearing act was applied—and why—is interesting.

Our present system of insurance wasn't designed, or thought out, by anybody. It grew up haphazardly as a kind of adopted child of the law of torts. To oversimplify it a bit, as a driver you're not insured for something, but against something—viz., having to pay a judgment.

If you're injured in an accident, who covers your medical bills, loss of income or other damages? No one, unless you can establish that the other driver was at fault. You're actually covered by his insurance—not yours. And chances are you'll have to go to court to prove he was at fault, and get a judgment against him.

This is known as the adversary system, and people who've been supporting another system—no-fault insurance—cite several reasons why it should be junked:

• Accident victims get a small share of the insurance money. A study by the Federal Judicial Center of some 220,000 suits filed in one year showed accident victims received about $700 million as their share, while trial lawyers got about $600 million in fees, plus another $100 million as reimbursed expenses.

• The study covered 513,098 accident victims, killed or injured. More than half—280,015—got nothing, because (a) they were "at fault" or (b) there was no one to sue. (Who pays the bills when it's a hit-and-run driver, never caught? When the other driver is not insured and not worth suing?)

• In more than half the states, insurance industry

figures show, 20 per cent or more of the drivers are not insured. Since you're actually covered by the other driver's insurance... well, you'll very often have to bear your losses without help from insurance.

There's a mile-long list of other figures indicating that the adversary system does not adequately compensate the victims; that it's enormously costly (reflected in the premiums you pay as a driver); and so unloved that even the big insurance companies want to get rid of it. The American Insurance Association is a pioneer in the effort to get the idea of no-fault insurance across.

No-fault means simply that any accident victim, without regard for whom was "at fault," is compensated for medical expenses, lost income, disability and other economic losses, up to certain limits. Lawsuits are out, except to settle large "catastrophic" losses.

In the legislative sessions ended last year, no-fault bills were under consideration in more than 30 states. How many today have genuine no-fault plans? Two. Others have so-called no-fault plans, which aren't—one version of how you can make something disappear. If the people demand better, pass a law giving them better... but in the fine print, define what they're getting as mud.

Another column deals with the disappearing-act trick, and what you can do about it.

NEW PRESIDENT of Italy, Giovanni Leone emerged the victor after a 16-day balloting battle in parliament, longest in Italy's postwar Republican history. A Christian Democrat, Leone succeeds moderate socialist Giuseppe Saragat.

"Oh, they know what you've got! They're trying to decide on how much to let you keep!"

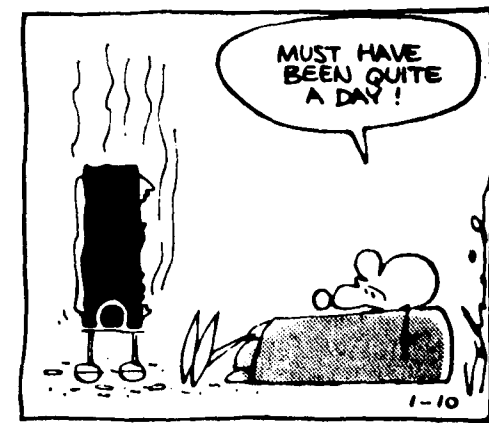

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Why is June 14 observed as Flag Day?
A—In memory of the day in 1777 when the Continental Congress adopted the Stars and Stripes as the official flag of the United States. It is a legal holiday in only one state—Pennsylvania.
